In-Person | 2-4 November | Singapore Expo

Since SFF's inception, the annual theme is carefully selected to reflect the prevailing opportunities and challenges in the financial sector.

This year, SFF will address Resilient Business Models. With persistent economic and non-economic shocks, the FinTech industry is going through a stress cycle to stay resilient and viable. SFF will analyse the core construct of a resilient model in today's challenging market environment, covering both business and operational models.

SFF will bring together heads of state, policymakers, regulators, financial services leaders, founders, investors and technology experts. These diverse stakeholders will frame the drivers of change and analyse how to design resilient business models to navigate immediate challenges and future-proof for long-term survival.
